2026 EDITION

ALBUM OVERVIEW

Growing into the person we choose to become

Becoming speaks to the years when identity can feel public, hurried and unfinished. It moves through comparison, anxiety, loneliness, appearance, love, failure and the pressure to adopt a ready-made voice. The album does not offer a finished identity. It follows the quieter work by which a person grows through free decisions, honest relationships, lived truth and service.

Its contemporary pop language is directed especially toward listeners aged 16 to 25, but its central question is universal: we are not merely finding a self that already exists. We are participating in the person we become.

TRACK 01

Still Becoming

Searching for identity without needing to possess every answer already

THE STORY OF THE SONG

The opening song meets a young person who expected adulthood to arrive with a finished map. Every answer instead opens another choice. Rather than treating uncertainty as failure, the narrator hears a quieter truth: a personality is not a fixed product but a living possibility, shaped through sincere decisions, experience and the inner light that patiently invites growth.

ITS PLACE IN THE ALBUM

The album begins with its central question: not “Who should I already be?” but “Who am I freely becoming?”

LYRICS

[Intro]

[Verse 1]

I used to think that by now
I'd know the shape my life would take
But every answer fades somehow
And leaves another choice to make

[Pre-Chorus]

Maybe I am not behind
Maybe I am right on time
In the quiet, something true
Says I'm more than what I knew

[Chorus]

I'm still becoming, day by day
Still finding courage on the way
I don't need to know it all
I can grow each time I fall

[Short Instrumental]

[Verse 2]

There is a quiet light inside
It never forces, never shouts
It waits while I freely decide
Who I will be through all my doubts

[Pre-Chorus 2]

Not a voice that takes control
Not a script that owns my soul
Just a faithful, steady flame
Calling me beyond my name

[Chorus]

I'm still becoming, day by day
Still finding courage on the way
I don't need to know it all
I can grow each time I fall

[Bridge]

I am not a name or score
There is always something more
Every failure, every start
Can become a wiser heart

[Final Chorus]

I'm still becoming, day by day
Still finding courage on the way
I don't need to know it all
I can grow each time I fall

I'm still becoming, choice by choice
Learning how to trust my voice
Every step can make more room
For the soul in me to bloom

[Outro]

No finish line I have to reach
Life has another truth to teach
I am not lost because I don't know
I'm still becoming as I go

TRACK 02

Everybody's Ahead

Comparison, performance pressure and the fear that everyone else is moving faster

THE STORY OF THE SONG

Images of other people's achievements become a borrowed clock. New doors, polished moments and visible victories make the narrator feel late to a race that was never truly theirs. The song refuses both passivity and frantic imitation. Growth has a personal rhythm, and a meaningful life cannot be measured by someone else's edited timeline.

ITS PLACE IN THE ALBUM

The album's uncertainty accelerates into social pressure before the narrator reclaims a personal pace.

LYRICS

[Intro]

[Verse 1]

I watch their lives arrive on time
New doors, new cities, races won
Then measure every step of mine
Against the miles that they have run

[Pre-Chorus]

My pulse keeps saying, "Move, move, move"
As if I've got so much to prove
But underneath the racing sound
A quieter truth is holding ground

[Chorus]

Everybody's ahead
That's the story in my head
But I don't have to race
A life that isn't mine to chase
I'm not late, I'm on my way
One honest step is mine today
Let the whole world run instead
I don't need to be ahead

[Short Instrumental]

[Verse 2]

Someone is younger, doing more
Someone has found the life I seek
The future's pounding at my door
And tells me I am growing weak

[Pre-Chorus 2]

I can't become by keeping score
Or forcing someone else's door
There is a path that I must make
A living choice no one can take

[Chorus]

Everybody's ahead
That's the story in my head
But I don't have to race
A life that isn't mine to chase
I'm not late, I'm on my way
One honest step is mine today
Let the whole world run instead
I don't need to be ahead

[Bridge]

Your rising does not make me small
Your open door is not my wall
We each are given room to grow
By choosing what we come to know

[Breakdown]

Not behind, not out of place
I am moving at my pace
Not a number, not a race
I am growing into grace

[Brief Silence][Final Chorus]

Everybody's ahead
That's the story in my head
But I don't have to race
A life that isn't mine to chase
I'm not late, I'm on my way
One honest step is mine today
Let the whole world run instead
I don't need to be ahead

[Outro]

No borrowed clock, no borrowed view
The life I choose must still be true
I don't need to race or know
I'll become as I freely grow

TRACK 03

Tomorrow Is Too Loud

Anxiety about the future and the return to the next choice that can actually be made

THE STORY OF THE SONG

The future enters the room as noise: imagined losses, unfinished years and verdicts pronounced before life has happened. The narrator cannot silence every uncertainty, but can stop rehearsing every fear. One breath and one honest decision return the soul to the present, where courage becomes practical rather than abstract.

ITS PLACE IN THE ALBUM

The pressure of comparison turns inward; the first real act of agency is to return to the present moment.

LYRICS

[Intro]

[Verse 1]

Tomorrow's shouting through the wall
Every fear becomes a call
Years I haven't lived appear
Like a verdict in my ear
I read the signs, I count the cost
Try to find what might be lost
While the life beneath my feet
Waits for me to feel its beat

[Pre-Chorus]

I cannot solve the coming years
By rehearsing all my fears
So I come back to what is near
One breath, one choice, one moment clear

[Chorus]

Tomorrow is too loud tonight
Every fear is closing in
I will turn toward the quiet light
And choose where I begin
I don't need the whole road clear
I just need one step from here
Let tomorrow make its sound
I will stand on solid ground

[Short Instrumental]

[Verse 2]

Headlines fall like walls of stone
I start carrying the unknown
Every answer splits in two
Still I have a life to choose
What I'm called to shape and make
Doesn't wait beyond today
It begins with what I give
And the truth I choose to live

[Pre-Chorus 2]

I won't hide from what is true
I won't let fear choose what I do
There is wisdom in the pause
Before panic makes the laws

[Chorus]

Tomorrow is too loud tonight
Every fear is closing in
I will turn toward the quiet light
And choose where I begin
I don't need the whole road clear
I just need one step from here
Let tomorrow make its sound
I will stand on solid ground

[Bridge]

I may not control the tide
But I choose the way I stand
I can keep a light alive
I can reach a waiting hand
There is something calm and near
Faithful through the rising noise
It will never rule by fear
It leaves me free to make my choice

[Brief Silence][Final Chorus]

Tomorrow may be loud tonight
But my fear won't close me in
I will turn toward the quiet light
And choose where I begin
I don't need the whole road clear
I just need one step from here
Let tomorrow make its sound
I will stand on solid ground

[Outro]

The noise grows low, the room grows clear
My life is waiting for me here
One honest choice, one quiet vow
I will meet my life right now

TRACK 04

Connected, Still Alone

Loneliness amid social networks, constant contact and carefully managed appearances

A hundred names can glow on a screen while no one knows the weight carried behind the image. This song does not condemn technology; it distinguishes contact from communion. One honest voice, one patient question and one person willing to remain can bring more light than an endless crowd of passing reactions.

ITS PLACE IN THE ALBUM

At the album's quiet emotional low point, visibility gives way to the deeper need to be truly known.

LYRICS

[Intro]

[Verse 1]

A hundred names light up my phone
Yet no one knows I feel alone
I post a smile, conceal the ache
Another version I can fake
They know the pictures that I share
But not the weight I'm carrying there
No one asks what kept me awake
Or hears the silence when I break

[Pre-Chorus]

Maybe I don't need a crowd
Maybe I need one voice out loud
Saying I don't have to hide
You are here on the other side

[Chorus]

Connected, still alone
Surrounded, barely known
I don't need another sign
I need your honest eyes in mine
Put the glowing screen away
Sit beside me, choose to stay
Presence says what words can't show
You are here, and now I know

[Short Instrumental]

[Verse 2]

I learned to measure being seen
In little hearts upon a screen
A quiet hour without reply
Could make me question how and why
But who I am is more than views
More than what the crowd approves
A soul is built through choices made
And love we give without parade

[Pre-Chorus 2]

I will risk a truer word
Even if it goes unheard
I will ask what hurts inside
And not scroll away and hide

[Chorus]

Connected, still alone
Surrounded, barely known
I don't need another sign
I need your honest eyes in mine
Put the glowing screen away
Sit beside me, choose to stay
Presence says what words can't show
You are here, and now I know

[Bridge]

Maybe fellowship begins
When we let each other in
Not to fix or take control
But to meet a living soul
Every person bears a light
No profile can contain it right
When I listen without fear
Something greater gathers here

[Final Chorus]

Connected, not alone
Seen beyond what can be shown
I don't need another sign
I see your honest eyes in mine
We can put the screens away
We can choose to truly stay
Presence says what words can't show
You are here, and now I know

[Outro]

One quiet room, one honest word
At last I know that I am heard
The screen goes dark, the room feels bright
One soul is here with me tonight

TRACK 05

See Me Without the Filter

The desire to be loved without manufacturing a perfect image

THE STORY OF THE SONG

The narrator knows how to crop the edges, choose the light and present a version that asks for approval. Yet every perfected image risks hiding the living person who is still changing. The song asks for a love courageous enough to meet imperfection without turning it into shame, and for the freedom to appear without disguise.

ITS PLACE IN THE ALBUM

After loneliness, the album begins to move again through authenticity, warmth and embodied joy.

LYRICS

[Intro]

[Verse 1]

I know the angle, know the light
Know how to make the picture right
I crop the edges, smooth the skin
And hide the weather moving in
A hundred versions on display
Each one says what I should say
But when the shining colours fade
Will you love the face I haven't made?

[Pre-Chorus]

I don't want to disappear
Inside a person built from fear
If you really want my name
Meet me where I need no frame

[Chorus]

See me without the filter
No borrowed light, no added glitter
See me without the frame
I am more than any name
See me without disguise
Meet the truth behind my eyes
If you love me, let me start
With an open, changing heart

[Short Instrumental]

[Verse 2]

I can laugh and still feel low
I can change and still can grow
I can doubt and still be strong
I can learn when I am wrong
I am not a finished scene
Not a product kept pristine
Every choice and every scar
Shapes the person that we are

[Pre-Chorus 2]

Don't applaud the mask I wear
Stay and meet me standing there
I will give the same to you
Room to change and still be true

[Chorus]

See me without the filter
No borrowed light, no added glitter
See me without the frame
I am more than any name
See me without disguise
Meet the truth behind my eyes
If you love me, let me start
With an open, changing heart

[Bridge]

Love does not demand a lie
Just to keep its image high
It will not prescribe a role
Or trade approval for control
It sees worth before the show
And gives the soul the room to grow
Truth can meet us where we are
Then gently call us past the stars

[Breakdown]

No filter, no frame
No borrowed face, no borrowed name
No hiding, no disguise
Just an honest pair of eyes

[Final Chorus]

See me without the filter
No borrowed light, no added glitter
See me without the frame
I am more than any name
See me without disguise
Meet the truth behind my eyes
If you love me, let me start
With an open, changing heart

[Outro]

When the colours fade away
I will still be here to stay
Not complete and not alone
Still becoming, still my own

TRACK 06

Love Me Free

Loving without possession and protecting the other person's freedom and growth

THE STORY OF THE SONG

Two voices refuse the idea that closeness requires control. Each asks to be loved without being reduced, directed or kept small by another person's fear. Their answers gradually become a shared promise: genuine loyalty protects personality, welcomes honest boundaries and makes room for both souls to grow.

ITS PLACE IN THE ALBUM

The search for identity becomes relational: freedom is no longer only claimed for oneself but faithfully offered to another.

LYRICS

[Intro]

[Verse 1]

[Female Voice]

Don't hold me closer out of fear
Don't make my world grow small to keep me near
If I am loved, then let me move
Toward the truth I have to choose

[Male Voice]

I will not vanish from your sight
When I take time to find my light
A bond can breathe and still be strong
Without deciding where I belong

[Pre-Chorus]

[Female Voice]

I am not yours to redesign

[Male Voice]

And you were never meant as mine

[Female Voice]

We can be faithful, we can stay

[Male Voice]

Without commanding either way

[Chorus]

Love me free, love me true
Let me keep becoming too
Hold my hand, don't hold my wings
Love is not the fear that clings
I will give the same to you
Room to grow and choose what's true
Side by side, not owned or bound
Love can breathe on open ground

[Short Instrumental]

[Verse 2]

[Female Voice]

I used to call protection care
While closing doors you needed there

[Male Voice]

I thought that love would keep us safe
If every choice stayed in its place

[Female Voice]

But loyalty cannot confine
The living soul that walks with mine

[Male Voice]

To seek your good, I must release
The need to rule and call it peace

[Pre-Chorus 2][Female Voice]

If I must speak, I'll speak with care

[Male Voice]

If you say no, I'll still be there

[Female Voice]

The truest love will not control

[Male Voice]

It serves the freedom of the soul

[Chorus]

Love me free, love me true
Let me keep becoming too
Hold my hand, don't hold my wings
Love is not the fear that clings
I will give the same to you
Room to grow and choose what's true
Side by side, not owned or bound
Love can breathe on open ground

[Bridge][Female Voice]

I can tell you what I see

[Male Voice]

You can disagree with me

[Female Voice]

Truth can speak and still be kind

[Male Voice]

Wisdom leaves control behind

[Female Voice]

I will not speak above your voice

[Male Voice]

I will honour freedom's choice

[Both Voices]

For love is more than holding tight
It helps another seek the light

[Breakdown][Female Voice]

Not my mirror, not my role

[Male Voice]

Not a shelter I control

[Both Voices]

Two free hearts can choose to stay
And choose each other every day

[Final Chorus]

Love me free, love me true
Let me keep becoming too
Hold my hand, don't hold my wings
Love is not the fear that clings
I will give the same to you
Room to grow and choose what's true
Side by side, not owned or bound
Love can breathe on open ground

[Outro][Female Voice]

I will not decide your need

[Male Voice]

I will honour where you lead

[Both Voices]

Close enough to truly see

Love is strongest when it's free

This Is Not My Ending

Transforming error, failure and public judgment into experience and growth

THE STORY OF THE SONG

One wrong turn becomes a label, and regret threatens to freeze an entire life around a single moment. The narrator does not excuse the harm or deny responsibility. Instead, truth names what happened without declaring the soul finished. Experience can become wisdom when remorse leads to repair, courage and a new choice.

ITS PLACE IN THE ALBUM

The album turns failure into a threshold, preparing the recovery of an independent and responsible voice.

LYRICS

[Intro]

[Verse 1]

I watched one moment hit the ground
Then heard the judgment gather round
One wrong turn became my name
One bad night became my shame
I kept replaying what I lost
As if regret could pay the cost
But every scar I tried to hide
Was proof I still had life inside

[Pre-Chorus]

I won't pretend I made it right
I won't keep hiding from the light
Truth can name the road I chose
Without deciding where it goes

[Chorus]

This is not my ending
I am wounded, I am mending
I am more than what went wrong
I can learn and still move on
Every fall can leave a seed
Every truth can shape a deed
I can choose what comes from pain
I can rise and love again

[Short Instrumental]

[Verse 2]

The world can freeze a single frame
And hang forever on your name
But no one life is fully known
By one mistake that has been shown
I will not ask pain to forget
Or call forgiveness a reset
I'll make amends where I can reach
And let my changed life be my speech

[Pre-Chorus 2]

Grace is not an easy door
That says the wound was nothing more
It gives me courage to repair
And meet the truth already there

[Chorus]

This is not my ending
I am wounded, I am mending
I am more than what went wrong
I can learn and still move on
Every fall can leave a seed
Every truth can shape a deed
I can choose what comes from pain
I can rise and love again

[Bridge]

I am not excused by grace
I am given room to face
What was broken, what is true
And decide what I will do
No single failure holds the sum
Of everything I may become
When I freely choose the light
I can make the next step right

[Breakdown]

Not the post
Not the fall
Not the worst night of them all
I will answer
I will mend
This is not the way I end

[Brief Silence][Final Chorus]

This is not my ending
I am learning, I am mending
I am more than what went wrong
I can grow and still move on
Every fall can leave a seed
Every truth can shape a deed
I will choose what comes from pain
I will rise and love again

[Outro]

No erasing, no disguise
I will meet the morning's eyes
What I choose from where I stand
Writes tomorrow in my hand
This is not my ending

My Voice Is Mine

Thinking freely while remaining attentive to truth, experience and the quiet inner voice

THE STORY OF THE SONG

Public pressure offers ready-made camps, labels and words that earn applause. The narrator refuses to exchange thought for belonging, but also refuses the isolation of reflexive rebellion. A mature voice can listen, learn and change while preserving the sacred power of personal choice—and extending that same freedom to others.

ITS PLACE IN THE ALBUM

Resilience becomes moral agency: the recovered self learns to speak without surrendering curiosity or respect.

LYRICS

[Intro]

[Verse 1]

Every feed says, “Choose a side”
Wear the label, join the tide
Say the words that earn applause
Never stop to test the cause
If I pause, they call me weak
If I differ, I shouldn’t speak
But beneath the borrowed noise
I can hear a quiet voice

[Pre-Chorus]

I can listen, I can learn
Still decide where I will turn
Open eyes and open mind
Do not mean I leave myself behind

[Chorus]

My voice is mine
Not a product by design
I can speak without the need
To make everyone agree
My voice is mine
Still becoming line by line
I will listen for the light
I will choose without a fight

[Post-Chorus]

My voice
My choice
My voice is mine

[Verse 2]

I have echoed words before
Just to stay inside the door
Traded questions for a place
Tried to wear a borrowed face
But a crowd can still be wrong
Even when the chant is strong
One clear question can reveal
What the loudest voices conceal

[Pre-Chorus 2]

I won’t close my heart to you
I will test what I hold true
Freedom isn’t standing blind
It is choosing with an open mind

[Chorus]

My voice is mine
Not a product by design
I can speak without the need
To make everyone agree
My voice is mine
Still becoming line by line
I will listen for the light
I will choose without a fight

[Bridge]

A quiet light does not command
It waits for me to understand
It does not take my will away
It leaves me free to choose the way
I can hear another view
Without surrendering what's true
Wisdom grows when hearts can meet
And freedom stands on steady feet

[Breakdown]

I can listen
I can learn
I decide
The way I turn
Open heart
Open eyes
No borrowed voice will choose my life

[Brief Instrumental Rise][Final Chorus]

My voice is mine
Not a product by design
I can speak without the need
To make everyone agree
My voice is mine
Still becoming line by line
I will listen for the light
I will choose without a fight

[Post-Chorus]

My voice
My choice
My voice is mine

[Outro]

I don't have to shout to shine
Quiet courage still is mine
I can listen, I can choose
And give that freedom back to you

More Than Being Seen

Discovering worth and purpose beyond views, approval and popularity

THE STORY OF THE SONG

Numbers can measure attention without revealing meaning. The narrator has learned to turn days into scenes that fit small screens, yet the room remains quiet when the display goes dark. The song moves toward a deeper measure of worth: character formed through choices, kindness that reaches another person and service whose value survives invisibility.

ITS PLACE IN THE ALBUM

The album's gaze widens from self-expression toward purpose, contribution and genuine community.

LYRICS

[Intro]

[Verse 1]

I know the numbers by their glow
Who stayed, who left, how far they go
A thousand eyes can pass me by
And never stop to wonder why
I learned to turn my days to scenes
Designed to fit the smallest screens
But every time the numbers rise
The room stays quiet when I close my eyes

[Pre-Chorus]

If worth depends on being known
What remains when I'm alone?
Something deeper asks of me
Who will I decide to be?

[Chorus]

I am more than being seen
More than numbers on a screen
More than moments on display
That disappear and fade away
I become through what I give
Through the truth I choose to live
I don't need the crowd to know
Love is where my purpose grows

[Post-Chorus]

More than seen
More than known
There is something more to grow

[Verse 2]

A million views can leave no trace
One honest act can change a place
A quiet word, a hand held tight
Can turn a stranger toward the light
I used to chase the loudest room
Now I help one kindness bloom
Purpose grows through daily deeds
In the good another needs

[Pre-Chorus 2]

I can still enjoy the light
Share a song into the night
But I won't trade my living soul
For a number I control

[Chorus]

I am more than being seen
More than numbers on a screen
More than moments on display
That disappear and fade away
I become through what I give
Through the truth I choose to live
I don't need the crowd to know
Love is where my purpose grows

[Bridge]

Every person has a name
More enduring than their fame
Every soul contains a worth
No applause can give it birth
When I see you face to face
I can make a little space
Where your story can be heard
And your value needs no word

[Breakdown]

Not just seen
Not just known
We become through love we've shown
Not a number
Not a view
I become through what I do

[Instrumental][Final Chorus]

We are more than being seen
More than numbers on a screen
More than moments on display
That disappear and fade away
We become through what we give
Through the truth we choose to live
We don't need the crowd to know
Love is where our purpose grows

[Post-Chorus]

More than seen
More than known
There is something more to grow

[Outro]

Let the numbers rise and fall
They can never name us all
What we give and what we mean
Will be more than being seen

TRACK 10

We Become What We Give

Moving from the search for self toward service, fraternity and a shared future

THE STORY OF THE SONG

The finale gathers the album's questions into a shared answer. Identity is not discovered only through reflection, applause or self-assertion. It is also created through the love freely given, the hand extended, the truth lived and the good chosen when no audience is present. Two voices become a young community without losing their individuality.

ITS PLACE IN THE ALBUM

Every earlier theme returns and is transformed: becoming finds its fullest meaning in service and fraternity.

LYRICS

[Intro]

[Verse 1]

[Female Voice]

I was still becoming, asking who
I could be when nothing felt true

[Male Voice]

Everybody seemed ahead
While I raced the clock inside my head

[Female Voice]

Tomorrow shouted through the night

[Male Voice]

We found one step, one quiet light

[Both Voices]

The future softened when we knew
One honest step was ours to choose

[Pre-Chorus]

We are not a finished name
Not a number, not a frame
Every choice can make us new
Every truth can lead us through

[Chorus]

We become what we give
In the way we choose to live
Every hand we freely raise
Builds the soul through all our days
Not by praise or being known
But by love in action shown
What we share is what will stay
We become along the way

[Post-Chorus]

We become
We become
Through the love we freely give

[Verse 2]

[Male Voice]

Connected, I was still alone

[Female Voice]

Until your honest heart was shown

[Male Voice]

You saw me without a disguise

[Female Voice]

And met the truth behind my eyes

[Male Voice]

You loved me free and held no chain

[Female Voice]

You stayed through sunshine and through rain

[Both Voices]

Two open hearts released control

And gave more freedom to the soul

[Pre-Chorus 2]

When I see you, when you see me

We create a place to be

Not the mask and not the view

But the life becoming true

[Chorus]

We become what we give

In the way we choose to live

Every hand we freely raise

Builds the soul through all our days

Not by praise or being known

But by love in action shown

What we share is what will stay

We become along the way

[Bridge][Male Voice]

This is not my ending now

[Female Voice]

Every fall can teach me how

[Male Voice]

My voice is mine, but I can hear

[Female Voice]

The quiet truth that draws me near

[Male Voice]

I am more than being seen

[Female Voice]

More than numbers on a screen

[Both Voices]

What we choose when praise is gone

Is the self we're building on

[Breakdown][Lead Voices]

Still becoming

[Young Ensemble]

Day by day

[Lead Voices]

Walking freely

[Young Ensemble]

All the way

[All Voices]

Every soul has room to grow

Through the love we choose to show

[Instrumental][Final Chorus]

We become what we give

In the way we choose to live

Every hand we freely raise

Builds the soul through all our days

Every heart we truly meet
Makes the human circle complete
What we share is what will stay
We become along the way

[Post-Chorus]

We become
We become
Through the love we freely give

[Coda]

One honest voice, one open hand
One soul beside us where we stand
Still becoming, day by day
Through all the good we give away

[Both Voices]

We become what we give
